

February 2025

The clip clop of tires on wooden boards driving through Offut's Bridge. The electricity in the air at Memorial Gym during a close game. The anticipation of that first sweet corn harvest. The smell of burning coal at Caldwell's Acres. The faces of the courthouse clock alternating red and green. Friendly smiles and familiar faces finding you wherever you go.

Rush County. Home. If we're lucky, we wake up here each morning. If not, it still finds us in our dreams.

There's a word for this – topophilia. Love of place.

Honestly, it's why we exist. To help you express your love of Rush County in tangible ways – through grants to local organizations, scholarships to students, and community leadership initiatives.

With so much news to share last month (check out the ICYMI section), we put the announcement of our new strategic plan on hold. But we're excited to share it with you now. It may not be the most poetic Valentine ever written to Rush County, but it's one of the sincerest. Sending our heartfelt thanks to our 2025 board members, including the newest - Julie Leisure, (who is featured this month) Jamey Pavey, and Jessica Vogel, - and of course to you, {First Name}!

Meet the RCCF Board: Julie Leisure

Julie Leisure

There's something special about Rush County life, isn't there? It only took two years of working and living in Elkhart after college for new RCCF board member, Julie Leisure, to long for home. And for good reason.

"I love the close-knit community that we have. It is so comforting being where everyone knows your name," she said. Julie, a Milroy native, now living between Arlington and Carthage, has Rush County in her blood. Just like her profession - teaching. That's really no surprise for the daughter of Phil and Nancy Mitchell.
